JQueryTooltip

Homepage: <http://bassistance.de/jquery-plugins/jquery-plugin-tooltip/>

Author(s): Joern Zaefferer

Version: 1.3

Display a customized tooltip instead of the default one for every selected element. Tooltips can be added automatically to any element that has got a `title` attribute thus replacing the standard tooltip as displayed by the browsers with a customizable one.

Content can be reloaded using AJAX. For example, this can be used to display an image preview in a tooltip. Have a look at the thumbnail REST service of Foswiki:Extensions/ImagePlugin how to load the thumbnail from the backend dynamically.

Examples

All elements with a title attribute in here get a tooltip. Options can be given using metadata inside the class attribute like this:

```
<div class="{extraClass:'bubble'}" title="Help: How to pass arguments to the jquery.tooltip"
  Hover me.

```
